

Research Study for Individuals with Drug Abuse and Depression

We are conducting a research study on an aftercare psychotherapy program at the UCLA Adult Partial Hospitalization Program.

Individuals currently in the Adult Partial Hospitalization Program who have problems with use of substances and depression are eligible to participate. Participants will visit the clinic weekly for aftercare treatment over twelve weeks. Compensation will be provided for completion of study assessments. Also included will be assessments of depression and substance use. Participants' responses to one of two available treatments will be compared.
